TEN WAYS TO BE A GOOD DAD

- 1. Love your wife. The #1 source of security for kids is to know that their dad loves their mom.
- 2. Spend time with your children. How you spend your time reflects what's important to you. Read to your kids at bedtime. Carve out a few minutes to help with homework.
- 3. Be a role model. It's impossible to underestimate the importance of your influence. Be what you want your children to be!
- 4. Understand your children. Every child is unique. In order to be the best father you can be, you need to understand your children as individuals.
- 5. Show affection. As children grow, so does their need for acceptance and a sense of belonging. Such a need is met when you offer a hug or a kind word, and express your appreciation and love for your children.
- 6. Enjoy your children. Enjoy being with them doing what they like to do. They'll grow up too fast and leave you wishing you had more time with them just to hang out and have fun.
- 7. Eat together as a family. Sharing a meal together – breakfast, lunch or dinner – provides structure to an often hectic schedule and gives kids the opportunity to talk about their lives.
- 8. Discipline with a gentle spirit. Discipline's role is not to intimidate or tear down. Correct your kids in private; you and your wife should be unified in disciplining.
- 9. Pray and worship together. Every child needs to know there is a right and wrong. Families that have a healthy prayer life help give them that knowledge.
- 10. Realize that you're a father forever. A good father realizes that as he allows his children the freedom to direct their own lives, he doesn't abandon them at a dorm room, wedding altar, or door of a first job. He continues to encourage and convey his wisdom all his life.

HAPPY FATHER'S DAY TO ALL OUR DADS!
