Pastor's Corner

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

This weekend, we celebrate the First Sunday of Advent, the beginning of the new liturgical year. The Advent Season is a time of preparation that directs our hearts and minds to Christ's Second Coming at the end of time and to the anniversary of Our Lord's birth on Christmas. From the earliest days of the Church, people have been fascinated by Jesus' promise to come back. But the Scripture readings during Advent tell us not to waste our time with predictions. Advent is not about speculation.

Our Advent readings call us to be alert and ready, not weighted down and distracted by the cares of this world. (Lk 21:34-36) Like Lent, the liturgical color for Advent is purple, since both are seasons that prepare us for great feast days. Advent also includes an element of penance in the sense of preparing, quieting, and disciplining our hearts for the full joy of Christmas.

As we prepare for Christmas, the General Instruction of the Roman Missal notes some differences to the Mass that should be observed during the season. For instance, the priest wears violet or purple during Advent, except for the Third Sunday of Advent (Gaudete Sunday) when rose may be worn. (GIRM, no. 346) Aside from what the priest wears, other aesthetic changes in the Church can include a more modestly decorated altar.

The final days of Advent, from December 17 to December 24, we focus on our preparation for the celebrations of the Nativity of our Lord at Christmas. In particular, the "O" Antiphons are sung during this period and have been by the Church since at least the eighth century. They are a magnificent theology that uses ancient biblical imagery drawn from the messianic hopes of the Old Testament to proclaim the coming of Christ as the fulfillment not only of Old Testament hopes, but of present ones as well.

Advent devotions, including the Advent wreath, remind us of the meaning of the season. An Advent calendar can help you fully enter into the season with daily activity and prayer suggestions to prepare you spiritually for the birth of Jesus Christ.

Additionally, our parish will offer Advent Prayer Books for both children and adults. These can be found in the Gathering Space for your convenience.

Finally, as I mentioned in my letter to you at the end of October, we will be moving the kneelers, (or prie dieu's) to the communion line for parishioners who desire to receive Our Lord in the Eucharist in the kneeling position. Those who wish to receive the Eucharist standing are reminded to profoundly bow prior to reception. It is my hope that this move will continue to foster a deeper desire for the Eucharistic Lord.

May God Bless you this Advent Season,

Fr. Smith

BE WATCHFUL

Reflection on Mark 13:33-37

As we begin this Advent season, we are told in today's Gospel to be attentive to God. Be watchful for His coming. Be open and malleable to the touch of God's hands that will continuously shape us into His lovers. In a seamless transition from the last liturgical year to this new one, we are invited into this Advent time of waiting and watching.

We do not wait in an idle or passive manner, but like the servants in the Gospel, we anticipate our master's return by assuming responsibility for the work of the household. Today, you and I are responsible for God's household, for the natural world in which we live and for the new world of grace given us in Christ. And so our waiting and watching are not passive, but involve active service of God's Kingdom, knowing that if we let Him, God can fashion each of us into something spectacular. May we be that kind of clay in the hands of the Potter.

~ Fr. Jay

SAINT AMBROSE

Feast Day: December 7

Patron Saint of: Beekeepers

One of Ambrose's biographers observed that at the Last Judgment, people would still be divided between those who admired Ambrose and those who heartily disliked him. He emerges as the man of action who cut a furrow through the lives of his contemporaries. Even royal personages were numbered among those who were to suffer crushing divine punishments for standing in Ambrose's way.

In his disputes with the Emperor Auentius, he coined the principle: "The emperor is in the Church, not above the Church." He publicly admonished Emperor Theodosius for the massacre of 7,000 innocent people. The emperor did public penance for his crime. This was Ambrose, the fighter sent to Milan as Roman governor, and chosen while yet a catechumen to be the people's bishop.

There is yet another side of Ambrose—one which influenced Augustine of Hippo, whom Ambrose converted. Augustine found the oratory of Ambrose less soothing and entertaining but far more learned than that of other contemporaries. Ambrose's sermons were often modeled on Cicero, and his ideas betrayed the influence of contemporary thinkers and philosophers.

His sermons, his writings, and his personal life reveal him as an otherworldly man involved in the great issues of his day. Humanity for Ambrose was, above all, spirit. In order to think rightly of God and the human soul, the closest thing to God, no material reality at all was to be dwelt upon.

Ambrose exemplifies for us the truly catholic character of Christianity. He is a man steeped in the learning, law, and culture of the ancients and of his contemporaries. Yet, in the midst of active involvement in this world, this thought runs through Ambrose's life and preaching: The hidden meaning of the Scriptures calls our spirit to rise to another world.
